Ethel Draper: Bristol
"I am so much younger, cleverer and prettier than Eileen!

My house is bigger, lovelier, more modern and more beautiful than hers!

Actually, I think I am the youngest, cleverest and prettiest woman of my generation in the whole family. And my house is the loveliest, most modern and most beautiful in the whole town!"

Eileen Draper: York

"Ethel, it's not true what you say! Of course, I am one tiny little year older than you are, but I am as clever and pretty as you are! How dare you [wagst Du es] say that I am not as pretty as you are, and less clever than you?

I was always better in mathematics at school, do you remember? And you were worse than I was in French, too. And just by the way, my house isn't less big, less lovely or less modern than yours! It's just a little bit out of shape, that's all..."

big	bigger / lovely	lovelier / pretty	prettier / clever	cleverer	> than biggest of /in	loveliest of /in	prettiest of /in	cleverest	Δ of /in modern	more modern / beautiful	more beautiful			> than most modern of /in	most beautiful of /in			Δ of /in good	better best / bad	worse worst			> Δ
less	big / lovely / pretty / clever / modern / beautiful / (good / bad)				< than
(not) as	big / lovely / pretty / modern / beautiful etc.	as			≠ / =